NATIONAL REPORT PORTUGAL

October 2015

The last few months have been of great political activity, with the campaign for the legislative elections that have just come true, the 4 this month.

He won the coalition that has governed the country over the last four years that were introduced heavy cuts in state social functions, with special emphasis on Health.

Having been the most voted force, but lost the absolute majority at its disposal, it is waiting for the

On level of health, there were no major changes.

However, it held a negotiation for revision of the Collective Labour Agreement of 2012, has not been possible to obtain the consensus between the parties on several points.

The right to rest after a night's work continues to be denied in various hospitals, which causes a strong discontent in doctors.

The two Unions (FNAM and SIM) remain united on the essentials of opposition to government impositions.
